

CDC admits HIV is exploding among transgender women... total silence from left-wing media, just like with the spread of anal cancer among homosexuals

(Natural News) It used to be that AIDS was widely regarded as the “gay disease.” But now it’s a transgender disease as well, with new data published by the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) showing that an astounding one in seven transgender “women” are infected with HIV.

According to a CDC “Dear Colleague” letter, of the 14 percent of transgender “women” that are disease-ridden, the vast majority are either African American / black (44 percent) or Hispanic / Latina (26 percent). Conversely, only three percent of transgender “men” have HIV, the letter further reveals.

As to why these transgenders have disproportionately higher rates of HIV and AIDS, it has nothing to do with their sexual perversion and promiscuity, claims the CDC. No, it’s supposedly because transgender people “face obstacles that make it harder to access HIV services – such as stigma and discrimination, inadequate employment or housing, and limited access to welcoming, supportive health care.”

“Addressing these barriers is essential to the health and well-being of transgender people and to meeting the goals of the proposed federal initiative Ending the HIV Epidemic: A Plan for America,” the CDC letter goes on to claim.

“The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) is committed to working with you to make sure all transgender people can get the tools they need to prevent HIV and stay healthy if they have HIV.”

World Health Organization says being LGBT is normal, but playing video games is a “disorder”

Not at all surprising is the fact that the mainstream media is nowhere to be found in reporting on the horrific disease trends among transgenders, instead offering the same silence that was also given to data showing that anal cancer is rampant among homosexual men.

“Transgender women and men are at high risk for getting HIV,” the CDC clearly states in its letter, which was signed by Dr. Eugene McCray, M.D., and Jonathan H. Mermin, M.D., M.P.H., both from the agency’s National Center for HIV / AIDS, Viral Hepatitis, STD, and TB Prevention.

At the same time that the CDC published this information, the World Health Organization (WHO) announced that individuals who claim to be transgenders shouldn’t be classified as suffering from a mental illness.

In the 11th edition of WHO’s International Classification of Diseases (ICD) publication, readers will no longer find any reference to gender incongruence being a mental disorder – this decision by WHO hinging upon the international agency’s desire “to reduce the stigma” associated with having gender dysphoria.

“It was taken out from mental health disorders because we had better understanding that this wasn’t actually a mental health condition,” stated Dr. Lale Say, a WHO employee who coordinates adolescents and at-risk populations.

“Leaving it there was causing stigma, so in order to reduce the stigma, while also ensuring access to necessary health interventions this was placed to a different chapter, the sexual health chapter, in the new ICD.”

Meanwhile, the WHO has decided to classify people who enjoy playing video games as having an “addictive behavior disorder” – this “disease” classification adding a whole new stigma to a hobby enjoyed by millions of children.

“As a member of the American College of Paediatrics said, you can alter a body, but you can not change sex,” wrote one Breitbart News commenter about the news.

“That is hard wired in your DNA. It can not be altered ... too few have challenged these so-called ‘experts.’ They’re not (experts) and they have ulterior motives. It’s the same as the climate change / global warming and whatever the next scheme is going to be.”
